Detailed report of the Programme:

Industrial visit is considered as one of the tactical methods of teaching. With an aim to go beyond academics, the final year students (Batch 2017-20) of the Department of Accounting and Finance visited Kitex Private Limited, a garment manufacturing company whose main focus is production of bags, pouches and garments. The purpose of the industrial visit was to provide an insight to the students on the internal working of manufacturing companies. It thus provides a practical perspective of the workplace through an exposure to the procedures, processes, work environment and management efforts taking place in that industry.

Outcomes of the event/Programme:

From this industrial visit students gained practical experience with regard to the various activities carried out in the organization. They learnt about division of work and employee safety norms. They also observed the process of production of bags.
